SUMMARY

Content strategist, new media operator, and visual communicator with an interdisciplinary background in applied psychology and digital education. Experience spans content planning, bilingual editing, social media operations, visual design, UI/UX, user research, and project coordination across higher education, mental health, wellbeing, and digital-product contexts. Enjoys moving between research and making — understanding people, structuring information, designing experiences, and turning ideas into tangible solutions that connect human needs with thoughtful digital tools.

EXPERIENCE
